Chapter 1

“The Breath of Life”

It is amazing how spin is so widely connected to all forms of creation. The spin of the photon particle of light; is the cause of the motion of gravitation; and the cause of the assembly and attraction of mass; and is therefore the instigator of time.

The spin of the drop of water is the cause of the yin-yang bi-polar drop of the cells of plants. The convergence of light is the origin of the focal spear, of the human cell and the production of the bi-directional strands of DNA.

The liquid drop always has an exterior curved shape. It is a convergent lense. The lensing effect is to refract light into a focal spear. That action causes a rotational motion in the liquidic drop. Every-action having an opposite yet equal reaction. The drop circulating to the right has an opposite motion to the left. The double helix; or bi-polar yin yang is created around the vortex of light's focal spear.

The focal spear created by the convergent lensing has a focal point of cross; after which the convergence begins to diverge; and a second circular cone of light is formed. The convergent spear of light above the focal point; is an impinging force of pressure and photons. That is gravitation or the pressure of gravity. The cone of light after the focal point of cross; is the cone of extraction or expulsion; and can be looked at as the cone of anti-gravitation; or anti-gravity. The double helix is created at the point where the incoming focal spear; is passed by the anti-gravity spear of expulsion. Every action having an opposite yet equal reaction.

That means gravity and anti-gravity are created at the same time. Gravity is therefore expressed as an accumulation of mass; and anti-gravity is expressed as the exhalation or the breath of what once filled the void; where new mass has been added to a mass (the atmosphere around the mass has been evacuated and replaced by more mass).

Creation is a result of the breath of life; which like the lens focused tunnel of time or the double helix; has an inhale and an exhale in its construction and motion.

“The Particle Creates the Wave”

A star spits out photons of light; and pre-atomic dark matter dust or star smoke. The photon particle of matter has two motions; a forward motion thru the void of the universe; and a spin motion of variable rates of revolution as determined by the photons mass. The mass and diameter of axial spin of the photon is an expression of color and the exact angle of refraction that is possible by that particular photon; when it impacts to a curved surface; such as a convergent lens; ie; a drop of water; or blood.

The spin or gravitational motion is in part transmitted to the lens; as the spinning photons refract to a focal point. After the focal point of the convergence; a motion of divergence forms a secondary cone of light; from which a reactive motion emerges.

It would appear that nothing is lost in the process; because every-action having an opposite yet equal reaction; the double helix of creation is the result; as gravitation going into the focus is rewarded by the outreach of the force of gravity.

It's worth considering that when the photons and their bow waves are created coming out of the stars; the exhaust vortex of the photon particles also sucks out the pre-atomic star dust or smoke; as a trail or swirl; like that trail which is seen behind a 50 caliber bullet when it's fired from a sniper's rifle. The bow wave in front of the photon particle of light pushes the particles or pre-particles out of the path of impact of the particle; and the spin of the particle gives stability and distance of travel to the photon particles; and just like in the double slit experiment the bow waves motion is out front of the particle; the particle creates the wave.

It is a foolish notion to ignore the fact, that the wave can't exist without there being a particle to create it. The photon particle is matter; photonic spin is the instigator of the creation and assembly of mass; and mass is the evidence that time has passed.

“At the Heart of Every-thing”

As stated in science law; every action has an equal yet opposite reaction. That means; that at the instance of the creation of the motion of gravitation and gravity; the motion of anti-gravitation must be created also.

Light is the creator, without light no-thing would be created. That being true; then the motion of spin as expressed by the photon particles of the visible spectrum of light; must be the instigators of gravitation, and therefore gravity and the assembly of atoms and mass. In the whole of the universe all creation begins with the stars; and the photonic motion of forward progression; and the gravitational motion of spin.

Each color of our visible spectrum of photons has its exact and specific mass; and as a consequence a very specific diameter of axial revolution or spin. That diameter of axial spin; determines the mandatory angle of refraction when the particle impacts the curved exterior surface of a convergent lens (ie; a drop of water; a cell; or a glass lens).

Light; photons of our visible spectrum; with their spin of gravitation; are the creators of all material forms. Whether we are considering the assembly of the atoms and mass; as created in our visible universe; or the forms made manifest by our liquid crystalline brains.

All manifestations; begin and are accomplished by the action of the lensing of light and the mechanism of gravitational spin.

“Let's Stick With What Matters”

So called spacetime, would be better if called pre-time; because change, or the process of the passage of time, is defined by the existence of matter, and a change of that matter; being observed. Empty space is changeless, has no point of coming into existence; and has no possible explanation of a beginning. No photons = no gravitation; or spin.

No particles; (ie photons) there could be no-thing to age or change. No star smoke; or pre-atomic dark matter dust; no construction material, from which spin or gravitation, could assemble atoms of matter or mass.

No stars = no photons; = no photon spin or gravitation. No star smoke; = no pre-atomic dark matter dust to gravitate into atoms or mass.

Empty space has no way to express the existence of time; no way to record; or bear witness to the existence of time; and or creation.

Therefore; I say time began and begins, with the creation of photons of light. The photon with its spin is the creator of gravitation and gravity; and as such is the particle of time. Every new photon creates more matter; and is a source of new and more time. Matter being the evidence of the passage of time.

I see no reason to even consider pre-time as a matter of value. There is no way to find an origin for empty space. It seems to be a total waste of mind time.

"Looking For; Proof of Mass for Spectral Photons"

Imagine the spectral photons as being canon balls; spinning at high speed; creating a front end view like a hollow point bullet. A violet colored photon having a very small mass; has also a very small front end view. The effect is that a light speed ball, creates a bow wave which is in effect an extension of the particles force. Each of the colors of the visible spectrum have a bow wave of progression which differs with its size of axial progression; and consequently; when it hits a curved surface of a convergent lens; it is mandated to refract at its exact, and specific angle of refraction.

That means that each color of photon has a specific mass; for each of the seven colors. Having that specific mass; demands that only that photonic mass; color; and angle of refraction; set by its specific diameter of axial spin; can refract at that specific angle.

At the moment of impact the violet light photon can turn at a very sharp angle of refraction; when compared to say the red light photon; which has a much larger area of impact; due to its much larger mass; and diameter of axis of spin.

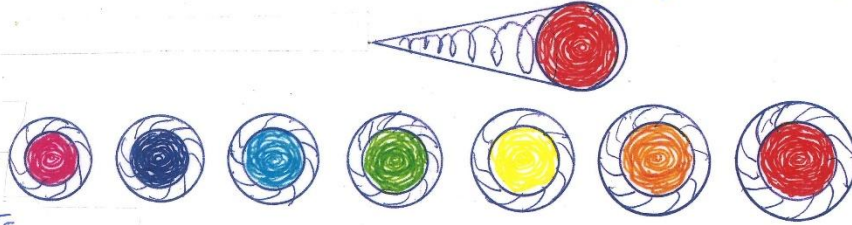

Inside a radiometer; there is no atmosphere; so there can be no bow wave; only the photon particle is there to make the vane move. Therein; is the proof of the power of the impact; and mass of the photon particle.

A wave is a creation composed of lots of tiny pieces; of whatever medium that surrounds a particle. Those many pieces are separating as the wave moves in its forward progression. In effect; the wave is spreading out or dissipating as it travels. A photon of light goes right thru a window pane; a wave pulse of air is reflected back.

Occam's razor uses simple answers; in quest of truth.

"Spectral Photons; Have Masses"

Photons of our visible colors have mass. They could not refract into the visible colors if they did not. A photon of our visible colors; has the color code of refraction; and when it impacts a convergent lens; its specific diameter of axis of spin; violet thru red; demands an exact angle of refraction. Picture the photon as a circular impactor to the glass of the lens. It can only refract sharply; if its axial diameter is small; as is a mass of violet light. Red light photons have a larger mass; and must have a larger diameter of axial spin; and must therefore refract at a larger angle; because the larger diameter can not allow for that much mass to turn as sharply as a small diameter axial mass; like a violet light photon.

Not only do they have variations of mass; but the spectral photons have variations of rates of spin. Yes, their forward speed is the same; in a vacuum; but they have a variable, but harmonious, spin variation.

Violet, having the smallest diameter of spin; can therefore refract at a very sharp angle; forming a focal spear of light with its point of focus; very close to the convergent lens. Where as red light is focused further out from the lens; with its point of focal cross or spear point of focal, being the focal farthest out from the lens.

The effect is that a convergent lens has a sequence of focal points of the different colors; of violet thru red; with each spear point of color in a colored spear of light. Seven colors equals seven spear points each in sequence, one inside the focal spear of the next. That refraction sequence is also shown in the refractory spins around the lens where birefringence is expressed as rings of the rainbow colors.

"It's Not Spooky; It's Logical"

Ultimately what has been termed as "spooky action at a distance;" and what will be found to be the medium of the transmission of psychic thought; will be found or discovered to be the bow waves of the photon particles.

Which once again takes us back to the double slit experiment; for an examination of the mystery between the particle and the wave.

Consider; you are driving down a street; you see someone who is standing at a cross street and waiting to cross. You suddenly think; "oh, that is so and so," and that person immediately looks at you; you know they looked exactly into your eyes; they followed your visual photons right back to their point of origin; and you have an instant feeling of physical contact.

Or you picture someone in your head; and suddenly that person calls you on the phone.

Both situations are; or can be viewed as a spooky action at a distance situation; and the only logical answer to explain the circumstance, is that photons; and their bow waves; have made the journey and caused the physical material response to the image; that was precedent to the touch of material contact; and the response.

All of which means; that the particle creates the wave; and imagery is a tool of creation; in the process of material reality. Imagery and the bow wave of the photons are the mechanisms of psychic transmission.

Clarity of the image; focuses the area of impact of the photons and their waves. Sustained image increases the effect; of reception, or manifestation.

Sketches: Spherical Parts

"Life is Holographic; and Spherical."

Glass; like the human body is made up of spherical parts; that allow light; or photon particles, to pass thru in two ways; first, it is refracted and focused by the spherical; or lensing spheres; and second; it can pass thru the spaces left between the spheres.

To witness the sphere to sphere focusing effect; you can simply look at a rainbow; or stand on the bow of a ship at night; and watch the bubbles transmit the star light into the bow wave of the moving ship; as it forces its way thru the water.

So it doesn't take a lot of imagination to see and know that the sun light striking your body on a sunny day; is also penetrating and being focused into the interior of your body. Those spherical lensing cells are taking the white light and refracting it into your body as a rainbow of colors.

Consider standing under a tree; there are spots of light on the ground where the leaves allowed light to reach all the way to the ground; uninterrupted and delivering full strength to the ground. That can be compared to the cells of the body; or the spherical glass lenses; which have spaces in between the spheres; which allows for uninterrupted penetration of the photons of light when entering the body or passing thru a convergent lens.

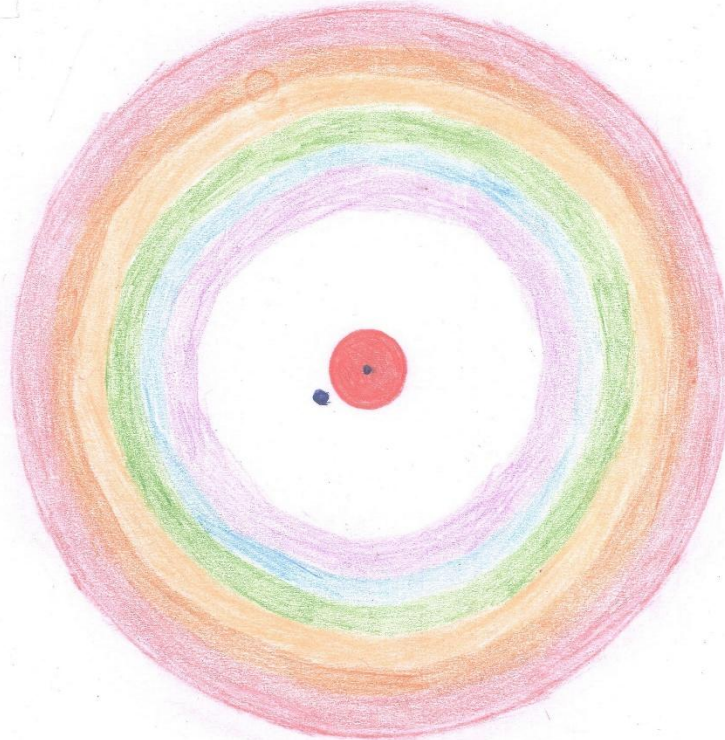

I have read that as much as twenty seven percent of the Earth is silica. Which is the primary component of quartz. Glass is silica in one form; and according to the ancient view; the doctrine of the micro-cosm and the macro-cosm; the Earth and the human body are percentage wise; one and the same as far as percentages of composition are concerned. Considering, now, the brain specifically; it has been said to be a liquid crystalline mass. Cells are lenses; lenses focus light and transmit light from cell to cell to cell. Not only do they transmit but being convergent lenses; they focus light into the focal spear of the various spectral colors; as a spear or sword of light.

Unlike a laser; the convergent lens focuses all of the spectral colors; and coordinates their spins into a harmonious progression in which we see a rainbow array with no photon particles or gaps between the colors. Both the gaps and the photon particles are eliminated from view; by the bow wave of the particles. It's amazing that the photon particles can go thru glass; passing thru between the atoms which being spherical not crystalline; they allow the photons to go thru a window; or a convergent lens; even when being refracted to a focal point; as is the case with the convergent lens.

There is an important difference that should be considered between the glass spheres and the cells of the human body. The glass spheres are unchanged during the passage of the photons. While the cells being liquidic lenses are set into revolution by the vortexial motion of the spin; or gravitation of the motion of the photons. That motion of gravitation is the origin and cause of the attraction; and generation of bi-polar motion and life.

“Bow Waves; Marijuana Seeds; and a Pellet Pistol”
(Appendix to article in Vol I, page 25)

With a pointed bullet the shock wave is at the very tip of the point; of the bullet projectile. With a rounded nose bullet; the bow wave is out in front of the bullet, smooth and rounded. With a hollow point the indentation contains a ball-like pocket of bow wave; which has the effect of exploding the bullet; at the moment of impact.

With my experiments with my pellet pistol; pumped up with twenty pumps and the spherical marijuana seeds. The bow wave must act like the round nosed bullet; as the observed holes in the aluminum can; suggested. Also the bow wave in front of the spherical seeds; protected and pushed the seeds into the box of tissues behind the can; with the most surprising result being that the seeds remained intact and showed no sign of damage; when retrieved from within the tissues in the box. The bow wave; not the seed had made the holes; in both the front or impact side; and the back or exit side of the can; the bow wave had protected the seeds from any direct contact with the can; and the tissues in the box; until the seeds stopped all forward motion.

For any given caliber of projectile; generally; the highest velocities are achieved with the lightest bullets. Which helps to explain why the seeds penetrated so powerfully, at this short distance. To be sure; the fact that there were two seeds, both moving with the same bow wave; must have added an extra jostle within the bow wave pressure; thus increasing the size of the holes in the front and back walls of the can; as well as the hole or tunnel in the box of tissues; which was notably, a straight line tunnel

“Photons Are Things”

The photons of the visible spectrum have mass; their mass varies with the color red (infrared) thru violet (ultra-violet). Each photon has a varying diameter of axial spin, (infrared) red thru (ultra-violet) violet; each color with its differing mass; has a varying rate of spin around its mass; and forward motion. Time is, or can be measured by counting the revolutions of spin, in a given distance of forward motion, as traveled by the particle. Each particle moves forward at the same speed; but spins according to its mass at a different rate; and at a different diameter of axial spin.

Every particle in the visible spectrum; is in harmonic motion with its neighboring particles. The spectral harmony is the basis for the atoms, and their harmonic motions. The spin gaps of the atoms are directly connected to the spectral colors; and their spin rates.

There is no argument about the particle-wave so called duality. The particle moving forward thru space moves whatever particulate dust it passes thru; and the particle creates the wave. No matter whether that is in space where it pushes star smoke pre-atomic dust; or whether it's pushing thru the Earth's atmosphere; it has in front of it; a wave. Just like a bullet fired from a rifle; or pistol; which has grooves in its barrel which give the projectile a spin motion; to go along with the forward motion of the projectile. The wave is created by the particle; without the particle or projectile, there is no wave.

To measure the location of the particle, a view from the side of its track of motion is necessary. If you Know its path or direction of motion; and its rate of spin; You can mark the distance traveled; by the revolutions of its spin; or frequency.

If you can observe a photon's motion from a side view; and if you can determine its color; you can determine its frequency or rate of revolution; around its axis of spin; and thereby determine its distance traveled during each high and low of its frequency of revolution. The wave frequency from crest to crest is one revolution of the spin of the particle, around its axis. Each revolution is a marker of a given distance of forward motion by the particle which obviously takes place at light speed, no matter which color of photon particle is making that distance of travel.

In one sense; if you measure time by the crest to crest of the photon; then if you use red light photons; time will go by more slowly; than if you are measuring times passage by measuring the crest to crest of the violet light wave; or spin rate; around its axis of diameter.

Funny enough; almost every one has had the feeling that time sometimes seems to pass by more slowly; or faster on occasion; than at other times. It's interesting that emotions have colors; as expressed in our bodies.

“The Focal Spear of Creation; Creates Thru Gravitation.”

The birth and practice of Alchemy; came about on; and along the equatorial belt of the Earth. The Tropic of Cancer and the Tropic of Capricorn; are the lines used in designating the band of maximum effects when the Alchemist is practicing the alchemical arts. The reason is; because the art is practiced with the use of a convergent lens; and or a parabolic mirror; and the astrological bodies are the energy sources; which are used to control and direct the alchemical (astrological & chemical) effects within the terrestrial materials.

The artifice of operations is the controller of the spin of gravitation; and the photons of our visible spectrum are the tools of the Alchemist. The gravitational attraction; of the vortex of the photons; can not be controlled by the standard furnace. The control is only achieved by the lens or the parabolic mirror. Which forces the photons to go thru the convergence of the focal director; and thereby to be gravitationally placed; particle to particle; in the assembly of the mass; as dendritic growths.

The lensing of the vortical assembly is mandatory. That gravitational motion is expressed by the alchemical symbol of the yin and yang of bi-polar attraction.

The liquidic drop is the convergent lens; its effect is to absorb the photons with their spin; and to channel them thru the focus; and on to the creation of the image; where creation takes place. Light is the creator; the image being held in existence; attraction assembles; the electrified form; into material reality.

Alchemy was born along the equatorial belt of the Earth; because the optimum location for the use of the Moon's fertility effects; within the elements of the Earth; is to be achieved only within that band; of the Earth's exposure; to the astrological Moon; Sun; and Venusian effects.

Oddly enough; it is for that reason; that I believe; the logical reason; and location to search for Atlantis; is at the bottom of the Atlantic ocean; along the equatorial belt of the Earth. Which is where I believe Alchemy was first practiced; and where the man with the right submarine; should look.

Thinking of submarine research; the Spanish galleons which were full of many tons of south American gold; and which sank just off of the Florida; (Cuba; Coast); would be perhaps the first things to look for; even before Atlantis.

There are over 20 ships on the bottom; just outside the Bahamas.

Going back to the Alchemist;

Just because a person recognizes that the Earth and its elements are affected by the astrological bodies; does not make them an Alchemist. The chemist is not an Alchemist; without the use of a convergent lens; or a parabolic mirror; there is no real control over the gravitational motions of the chemical elements.

Al-chemy; is the combination of the control; of chemical elemental motions; within the elemental particles of the Earth's terrestrial components; and the energies of the Moon; Sun; and Venusian qualities. There is only one way to do that; and that is with the vortexial or gravitational motions as instigated by a convergent lens; and or a parabolic mirror. That control of the motion of gravitation; and consequent attraction into mass; is the key to all of creation. Light being the creator; and the moist sphere being the cell or lens of creation.

Both Newton and Tycho have been referred to as being Alchemists. But they did not have a proper location on Earth; from which to use a convergent lens; or a parabolic mirror. They in fact used a furnace; which does not allow for control of the motion of gravitation; which is mandatory for the proper art and operations of Alchemy; tho not for the science of chemistry.

Willful transmutation; means control over the atomic motions; and the lensing motion is the only way to control the motion of gravitation; and consequent gravity; and the attraction of atoms into mass. Any furnace driven reaction; is not a controlled reaction; it is random. To control any reaction or chemical activity; the motion of the gravitational attraction; or vortexial speed of the components; must be controlled and mediated; and that control is achieved by the lensing of the photons; thru the Photonic Tunnel of Time.

“Photons And Star Smoke in The Vortex of Time”

Time is a one way journey; the proof is seen in the fact that if you look at the Earth's motion in our galactic disc; it is not a circle its a progression of change; not a circle; but its a spiral of progress; always in the act of change; but never is there an exact circle of repetition.

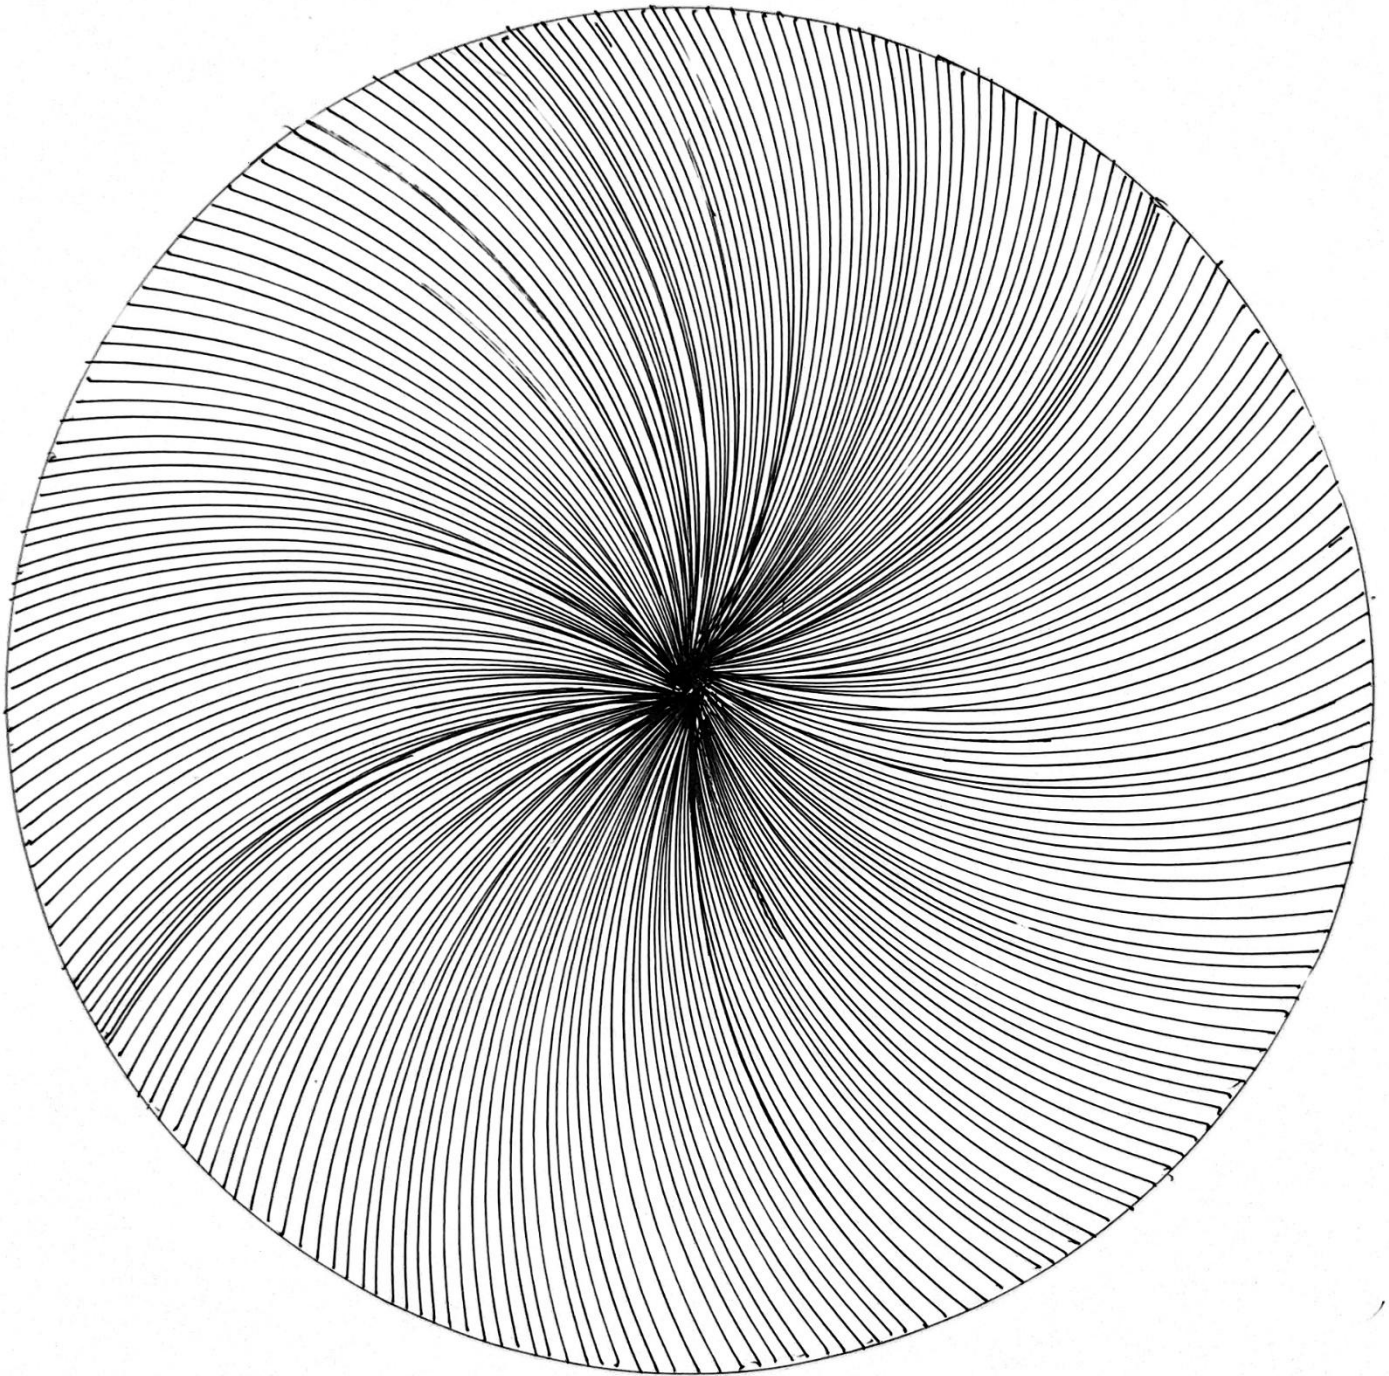

Time can be observed as a photon of light; moving as a particle in a nearly straight line of progression; always with a spin of motion in an exact rate or frequency of spin; and a correlating color.

The photon is the particle of time; and gravitation; or gravity.

The attraction of matter into mass; is the result of the photons transference of spin into the galactic dark pre-atomic dust; that spin instigated by the photons; is causing that pre-atomic dust to begin spinning at near light speed; and in spinning at centrifugal rates of spin; and friction eventually slows the spin rate to centripetal rates of spin; which allows the static charge to begin attracting the pre-atomic dust into atoms; and mass results.

Matter thus becomes the proof that particles of light create mass; and matter is the evidence that time has passed; and that dark matter dust is the source of matter. Photons and star smoke or dark pre-atomic dust; spin and the resulting gravitation all add up to creation; and a galactic disc with the Earth moving in time; thru a vortex of progression in space.

“More On Computer Chips and Lithium Battery Failures”

Computers have a fatal flaw; which is beyond the ability of humans to fix or work around. The rupturing of computer chips and lithium batteries is directly linked to the Moon's cycles and their effects on the dendritic growth of crystalline structures; which are evidenced during, and by; the fertility cycles of the Moon's phases; on and within the elements found as concentrated masses; here on Earth.

In fact these concentrations are only assembled, because of the gravitational motions; experienced by Earth's mass and mediated by the Moon's cycles; on and within the Earth. All fertility and growth; be it animal; vegetable; and mineral; are the result of the moons instigation of effects of ionization; and on fertilization; of the elemental kingdom. If this were not so; there would be no vegetable; or animal kingdoms. All cells have a nucleus of a mineral; or elemental particle; around which the growth of a form takes place. Lithium has a melt temperature of about 180 degrees Celsius; which is very low; and the element is extremely soft for a metal. Which means that it is easily deformed by external pressures; which includes barometric or atmospheric variations. That includes those pressures instigated by the Moon upon and within the Earth.

I have found out over the course of several years of daily experiments; that the Moon's pull on the gravitational motions of the Earth's elements; gold and platinum in particular; are inescapable. The same growth patterns are seen in every-thing; ie: vertical growth up from the base line of the surface of the Earth; and down into the mass of the gravity of the Earth; and are to be seen in all three kingdoms; the mineral; the vegetable and the animal; and that is completely logical and observable. For without the mineral particles there would be no vegetable or animal forms.

Looking at gold dendritic growth; gold like every-thing; has vertical growth during the Moon's overhead passage; and root or below ground growth during the Moon's passage beneath the Earth.

In a previous article on page 20, I wrote about how during the down or waning side of the Moon cycle; the gold grew into the glass surface on the inside of the test tube. In fact; the same vigorous growth as expressed in vertical growth during the Moon's overhead passage; is exhibited in the below-ground or into the glass; efforts; by the gold. The gold in fact tries so vigorously that it sits and vibrates in the glass test tube such that the tube rings; and can be heard from some distance away.

In my personal opinion it would eventually grow thru the test tube if it didn't break the tube first; which is what happens; as I have experienced many times. (for reasoning see article pg 258)

Numerous experiments have ended with broken test tubes either from the gold resonance exceeding the test tubes frequency of resonance; or from me trying to pry the gold specimen off of its point of growth and adherence to the wall of the test tube; after the end of the experiment. So it's pointless to seek to grow vertical growth during the down side of the Moon cycle; and obviously; that being true; that's why the computer chips are fundamentally doomed to short life spans.

Any time there is electronic motion within the computer chips or the lithium battery; the motion is being effected by the gravitational pull of the Moon; whether it is above the Earth or below the Earth with respect to location. Just like when you look at the branches or the roots of a plant; the monthly cycle is pulling the extending dendrites outwards; as spiraling tips of growth. In fact that pulling motion is the reason for the breath of life; inhale and exhale; of all fertility. That motion is the gravitational motion in all created things. Ask any mother; farmer; or crystal growing business; they will tell you; everything; is subject to the cycles of the Sun; Moon; and Venusian cycles; you can not ignore the effects and win in the effort to dominate Mother Earth.

Obviously this is also a big deal; when considering any long term applications of either computer chips or lithium batteries.

"Rattle Rattle!"

For a person to keep their mind active and generating a state of health; there are few subjects that are better than mysteries; and if those mysteries are tintured with vivid colors; that's an unbeatable combination, for the promotion of exciting, breath; and instigating life; and health.

By mysteries I mean unanswered questions; no matter what the subject is; ie science; religion; metaphysics; are some of the best.

The idea is to keep pondering, and contemplating, building new connections inside that thinking liquid crystalline mass called the brain. The brain and body are a holographic electrified whole. What ever one cell knows, the rest of the cells know. To know is only achieved; after an experience; not before. Before knowing; is only in the thinking process; about the mysteries. Proving reality and knowledge; takes experience with physical, material, elemental things.

It seems that the contemplation of the unknown is directly connected to the unfilled space within the liquid crystalline mass of the body and brain. It's akin to the stars spewing out photons and dark-matter pre-atomic dust out into the emptiness of space. There is a vast unfilled void which is awaiting some-thing; or things being put into that unfilled space. The organism sends out electrical tendrils; dendritic nerves spiraling out; searching for the new and exciting; of the emptiness of possibilities, unfulfilled.

It's a reciprocal growing like roots and branches of a tree; the unseen; creating the seen; and vice-versa, as the electrical action makes manifest a material form, both inhaling and exhaling the breath of life and existence.

The biggest mystery may be; which came first the inhale or the exhale. It logically must have been the inhale; but it's a lot like the age old question. Which came first, the chicken or the egg? It must have been the egg; which was the drop of water with a particle for its yolk; and set into rotation by the lensing effect of light, setting the drop into rotation; which became a bi-polar drop; attracting unto itself that which allowed the ionization of fertilization and growth of that primary cell.

Out of that liquidic lensing drop; every-thing came into existence. Change the tiny dust mote or yolk, from one element to another; and you change the resulting creation. Change the size of the drop of water and you alter the spectral color and its focal point within the lensing cell. Each of the seven colors of our visible spectrum; having its own spear or focal point; having its own exact focal point; has also a very exact and specific effect; within the lensing cell. Each color also has its very specific spin rate or speed of gravitation, and therefore rate of attraction and generation; whether that's an animal (iron) nucleus or some other (ie vegetable) element (nucleus) cell.

"A Change in Matter; is Evidence of Times Passage"

We can think of photons as projectiles; and every star is a source of photons and pre-atomic dust; both photon particles and pre-atomic dust are being ejected from each and every star; blasting outwards in every direction. Every photon projectile is pushing forward with a bow wave of compression pushing outwards and moving the fabric of the dark matter dust that's in its path. The so-called universal expansion is the collective force of all of those photons; pushing the star smoke or pre-atomic dark matter dust ahead of the photon particles.

There is a simple device called a radiometer which looks like a light bulb; but it has inside its vacuum sealed globe; four vanes which are black on one side and which are set into a spinning motion when struck by Sun light. The instrument demonstrates that light particles carry a pushing force; so when the radiometer is sat in the Sun light; the vanes are caused to move in a spin motion. That same particle push is moving the pre-atomic dark matter dust into an expansion of our universe; which is also a near vacuum; and is the home to countless stars.

The double slit experiment proves that light is a particle; and that particle has a bow wave out in front of that moving particle.

Common sense and Occam's razor say that in order for mass to exist it had to have a source from which it came. Turn off all light in the universe, and there would be no-thing. Light, photons and dark matter pre-atomic dust are created in the stars. Light moves in two ways; it goes forward and it has spin. When that photon exits from a star; it has a bow wave of pressure; and a vortex of an exhaust like spin. Both motions combine in pushing and pulling pre-atomic dark matter dust or star smoke dust into the emptiness of space. That pre-atomic dark matter dust thru the spin induced friction gradually attracts via electro-static charge and the spin motion of gravitation; into atoms which contain gravity; in mass. (The motion of gravitation is spin.)

Time being created; as change is created in mass; by the photon and its motions. There is no space time; there is only matter time; as change is notable in matter.

"A Simple Explanation of Creation"

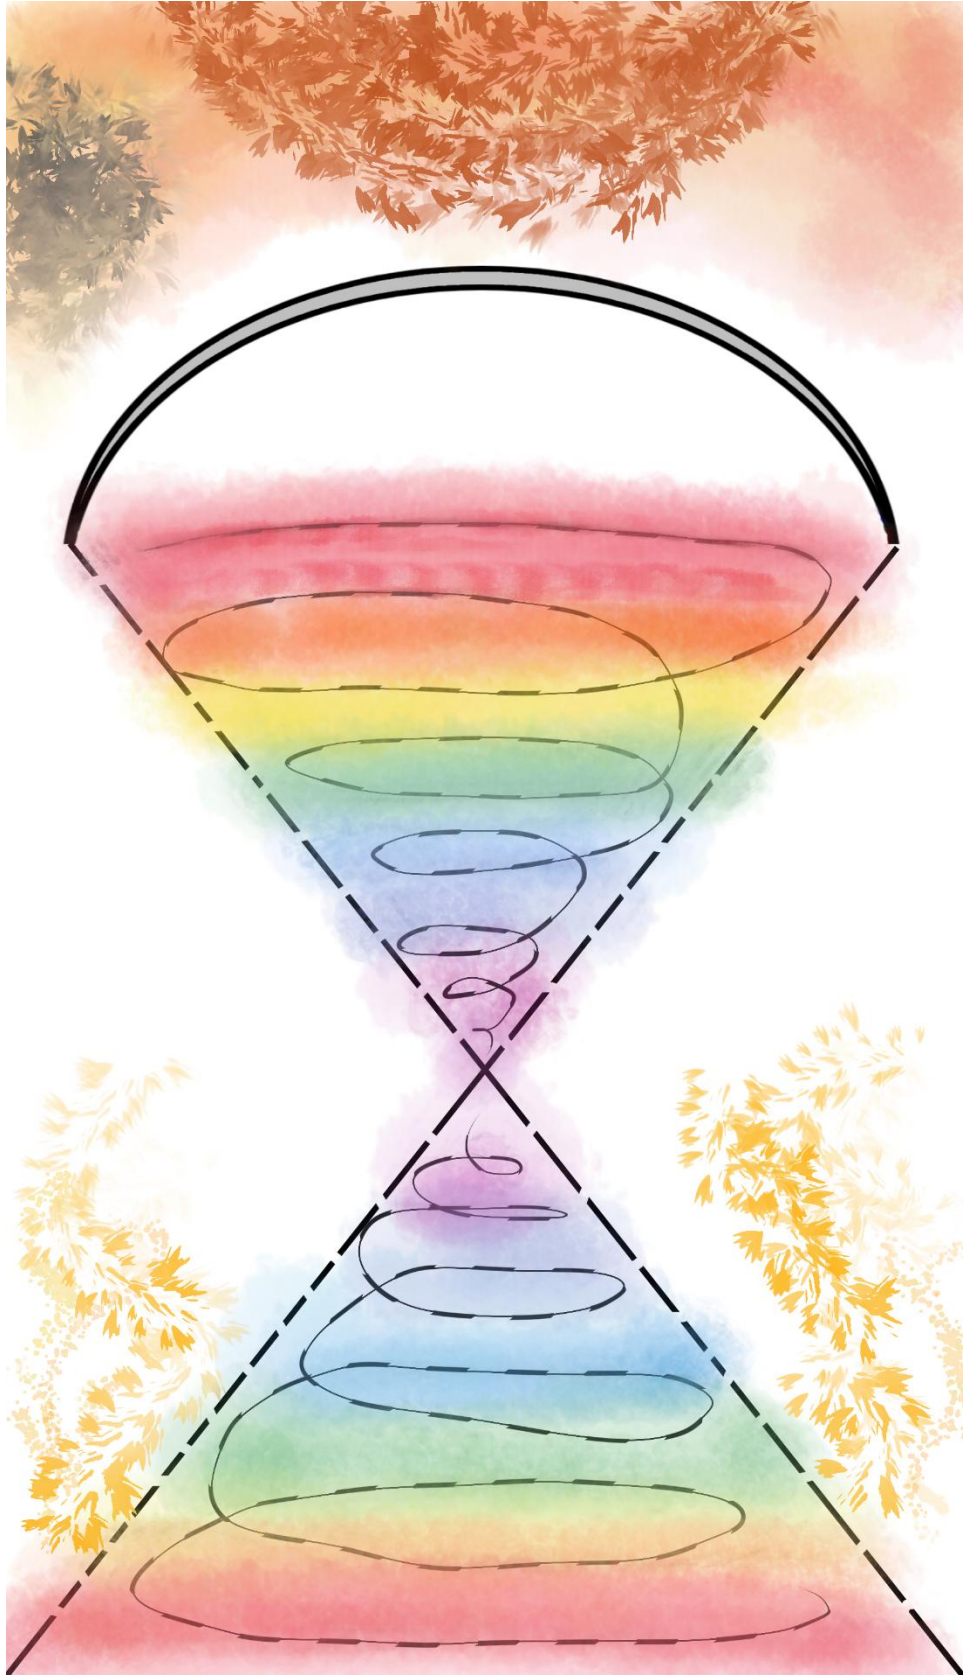

If we say yes there are four forces; that gravity is the first force; then in order to unify those four forces; and create a working model; of everything we must identify the cause and origin of the motion of gravitation. Unification is the key to relativity; or simply put; the answer as to why Newton and Einstein and really everybody is stuck on mathematical speculation and unable to create a working model of every-thing, including the role of the quantum.

Once that understanding is reached; then the forces are automatically linked; through a new understanding of every-thing. Based on the knowledge of the origin, and cause of creation or gravitational assembly of matter:

Light is the creator; spin is the mechanism of the photonic motion; of creation; and gravitation. Matter thus is the expression that change or time has been created and has passed.

Notes

Have you any ideas; which will answer the questions?

What is the cause and source of the motion of gravitation?

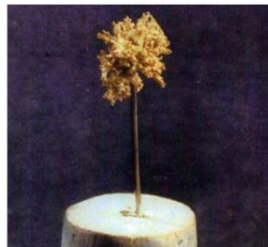

What is the cause and source of the so-called dark matter?

What is the cause of the suspected universal expansion?

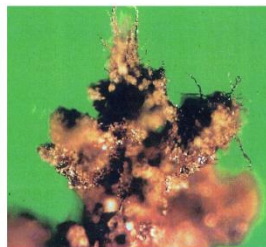

This book offers some possible answers to those questions. The world of physics is seeking answers to physical matters; using math and an endless flood of numbers. The problem with math is it can never yield a result, like a physical experiment can. The main goal of physics should be to produce a working model; not an endless theory. The model of everything can only be a reality; if it is proven with a physical experiment. What is referred to as "The theory of everything" is a fallacy, created to generate endless efforts, and paychecks.

This book shows photographs of, and explains, the vertical growth of gold crystals; demonstrating photonic control over gravity and the Earth's mass; there by demonstrating a physical working model of photonic control of the motion of gravitation.
